

'GRENFELL From Today'

There are sights we should never behold
There are souls that cannot be consoled
Beautiful memories lost to the flames
The loved and the lonely were more than just names
And the young that will never get old

As the world wonders how this could be
Such a tower of humanity
Such a beacon of dread to the living and dead
With unanswered questions and things left unsaid
Such a sight that cannot be unseen

Chorus:       A new day, a new way
                  To create a world we're worthy of
                  A new day, a new way
                  We must listen and learn to love
                  From Today

There's a child with no words she can find
To describe all the thoughts in her mind
There's a motherless son with a heart to be won
And a hero unsung who is coming undone
There's a mountain of grief to be mined.

And we give all the love in our hearts
To the lives that are coming apart
To heal body and soul, take the terrible toll
We give what we can to keep families whole
We are neighbours and all play our part

Chorus:       A new day, a new way
                  To create a world we're worthy of
                  A new day, a new way
                  We must listen and learn to love
                  From Today

There's a vow from the heart of this land
There's a promise we all understand
From North to South, from East to West
A time to grieve a chance to rest
To our neighbours we offer our hand

Though your hearts they will never quite mend
Fall in love with your futures again
Let the joy of new memories shed light on the old
Let hope be the pathway for journeys untold
Let a stranger turn into a friend

Chorus:       A new day, a new way
                  To create a world we're worthy of
                  A new day, a new way
                  We must listen and learn to love
                  From Today
